Leonette Terry - July 09, 2020 at 08:11 AM

“ Our memories of Elaine Terry are many. For over fifty years, we have included Elaine in our hearts and mind as one of most compassionate caregivers and colleagues. Arriving in her always perfectly crisp white uniform with neatly polished shoes, a smile and hint of laughter on her face, she pitched right in to serve and offer clinical care to so many of Washington DC's often needy patients.

When Elaine was on duty there was little to worry about. She was a natural and true caregiver and resolved that her patients were clean, uncomplaining and well managed clinically. When the unit was busy, so was Elaine, sometimes in her later years at cost to herself. Always in her crisp white uniform with a smile on her face she pursued patients and their needs at every level. She bathed, she comforted, she medicated and sometimes she cried. She was a rule player and an eloquent model of compassion.

As she got older and continued to nurse, it was physically more difficult for her but she plowed through a shift with her faith and her earnest.

Many of the individuals who worked with her in the ED, had the opportunity to visit with her several years ago at Mary Gavin's 80th birthday. Again, in spite of her disabilities, there was Elaine, dressed to a T and reminiscing with her former colleagues.

She and Mary Jones, and Willie Jefferson were the backbone of the Emergency Department for many years. Nurses came and went to other locations, but Elaine stayed, pursuing her choice career and service to others offering each patient her comfort and clinical skills. A major part of the Providence Hospital family, now disbanded, Elaine will never be forgotten by anyone who knew and worked with her. Most of NE Washington residents and some of NW were cared fo by Elaine. She served her God, her family and so many others with class, comfort and love. She lived her Faith and served humanity as only nurses can.

May our sympathy be with you her family and friends to bear your loss and keep in your hearts the memories she left for you. Her Providence Family,

“ I really don't know what to say. My grandma was all that. Elaine was a busy lady, she looked after all her grandchildren throughout our time in school. Took us to school. Fed us before and after school, Her home fries are my favorite, She knew it. She made sure we were bought up in the church, had manners and strong morals. My grandma (Elaine Terry) was a very busy woman. She was Providence Hospitals most active nurse that's for sure, her co-workers could vouch for this. She was involved in every event held at providence Hospital. . My grandma loved her community. Elaine Terry even had her own day granted to her by the mayor of D.C. after winning Mrs Senior D.C. 1998, I was especially proud of her for that. My grandma, Elaine Terry made sure that I for one was involved in many of the activities she was involved in. She even called me her legal council. I'm proud to have helped her create the name C.A.P.I.T.A.L. Spirits for her non profit organization and help her with the articles of incorporation. My grandma said to all her friends imma be alright, my grandson got me, and I did. She made sure she took advantage of what she called her grandsons big brain. Lol. Grandma, I ain't all that but thank you. I know hear me. I love her so much. She loved all her grandchildren, children, and great grandchildren children very much. Elaine will be missed by so many. I'd like to say the whole D.C. is gonna miss my grandma. She now joins her son and my grandad in the heavens. She left behind a strong beautiful daughter in Leonette Terry-Petway and daughter Felicia Simms as well as a a small host of grandchildren and great grandchildren. I ask all the family and friends in this time to especially help us comfort Leonette. I know that Elaine, Leonard Terry Jr., and Leonard Terry sr are warriors of the creator up there for Leonette and will watch over her and help keep her in the creators favor. My grandma would have wanted it this way. I could go on and on and on about all that my grandma did and what I learned from her but I think that all reading this may already know. So in conclusion, I ask all the loved ones of Elaine to remember this, Elaine made no excuse and always kept it moving, she understood the value of time and the value in people, she may not be here in flesh but her energy and spirit is still busy in each one us, so make no excuses, keep it moving, give something to somebody and walk in love and light. - Da' Mond Maurice Young. Sorry I took so long Grandma. I carry you with me right under my heart.

“ Cousin Elaine was the matriarch of my mother's side of the family. Since I was a little girl, we would go to her house for the most elaborate holiday dinners with her upstairs serving dinner with pure elegance and her fine china and Cousin Leonard downstairs at the bar entertaining family with trash talk and lots of laughter. We grew closer in my 30's as she told me that I reminded her a lot of herself being social and enteraining. I will miss her dearly as we shared some great moments together. She was the epitome of Class, Style, Kindness and Grace and anyone who had the opportunity to connect with her should be considered blessed. Rest peacefully Cousin Elaine. Love Gaye and Antoine

“ My sincerest of condolences to the Terry family. Mrs. Terry was a very beautiful, determined and spirited woman. I often admired the self-love that she exhibited, which is a rare feat that many have yet to accomplish. Her kindness enveloped many close friends. She loved to be involved in many clubs and events. Her daughter Leonette, is the epitome of her mother. She is my friend, my sister girl, and all that I enjoy. Net, I want you to know that I am here, as your family and special friend. eternally! I offer my love and peace to the family of Mrs. Elaine S. Terry.

Dear Leonette,

Our sincere condolences to you and the rest of the Terry family. Your Mom was very much apart of our lives. Our memories of her, being very fashionable, who loved to entertain family and friends at home. Her spirit was free and bathed in the beauty of life that God designed for her on earth.

Cherish those precious memories as they live on in the hearts of many family and friends. May she rest in the arms of the most high, bathing in the beauty of his grace and eternal peace.

We pray for your Peace, comfort and continued strength during this difficult time. Hold on to God unchanging hand!
