

Eulus Hayes Jr

July 31, 1939 - July 6, 2020

Eulus Hayes, Jr. was born July 31, 1939 in Washington, DC. He was the oldest of six to his parents the late Veral and Eulus, Hayes, Sr. He was also lovingly raised by his paternal grandparents Cecil and Georgeanna Hayes; his maternal grandparents Charles and Louise Johnson; niece LaJuane Burks-Richardson, and nephew Duane Burks (Rochelle).

He was educated in the District of Columbia Public School system (DCPS). Giving back to his community, he worked for DCPS as a Building Maintenance Engineer for 32 years. Junior, as he was affectionately known, received several Service Awards for many years of dedicating his time and knowledge to the District of Columbia Public Schools system.

Uncle Jr, was a brother, uncle, great uncle, cousins and friend to all that knew him. On a daily basis, his sense of humor was surpassing. Countless acts of pranks were pulled off on every niece and nephew that came within arm reach. No one was an exception, even close friends of the family. Junior always shared his humor and sharp wit with those who surrounded him. There were countless times his smiles, jokes and laughter were infectiousness, which is still recanted to this day. Uncle loved cars and owned several luxury during his lifetime. He took pride in keeping them clean and bragging about what he loved about cars with powerful engines. He would love to clean and kept his house immaculate. Sometimes when family stopped by, he had no problems saying "Don't mess my kitchen up, so go back where you came from." There was never, ever a time he did not make time for his family. No matter what the issue or demand, he was ALWAYS available for his family. He loved his family in every possible manner he could. His loving acts of kindness could be seen by volunteering to help his siblings with their car issues, by assisting to pick up his nieces and nephews in his immaculate car from school, he would take his beloved mother shopping every Saturday and when his father wasn't able to drive anymore, he would take his father to church on every Sunday, he and his brother would take their niece LaShawn to the car show at the Convention Center every year, last but not least, his younger sister never drove so he would pick up his niece and driver her to every school activity without complaint or hesitation. He wasn't known for joining many organizations or boards, but he was known for doing plenty, for many, as one. We will never be able to write or express all he did for those, but we simply want to acknowledge the wonderful man Junior was. His humor, love and kindness will be missed by his family and all he touched.

He leaves a loving family to cherish his memory: Five siblings, Gloria Burks, Carlton (Danny) Hayes (Gerri), Sharon Spencer, Dwight Hayes, and Carol Wilson and a half sister Amy Bynum. Nieces and nephews, LaShawn Hayes-English (Fiancé Robert), Colleen Dreher-King (Leon), Rhonda Hayes-Givens, Taundra Hayes-Turner (Norman), Kelli Hayes-Rubino, Darin Burks, (Angela), Carlton (Tony) Hayes (Toya), Kenneth Dreher, Larry Dreher (Fatima), Andre Wilson; 28 great nieces and nephews and a host of great cousins, extended family and other relatives and close friends
