“ Gerald was my fourth grade student. He was extremely interested in Prehistoric Animals. He would ask me questions about them, whether or not I knew certain facts about them. I always had to answer "no" and listen to him explain and/or give me the facts about them.

In addition to teaching Gerald, I also tutored him for a short time. Gerald was sensitive and kind. He sat right next to my desk in the front of the class where he could have access to me if he needed something. As I write this, I can see his face little looking at me through his glasses.

I knew that Gerald loved sports and that he would grow up to be tall. In addition to Gerald being tall, he was a sweet child who rarely gave his teacher any trouble. I have known four parents who have lost their child to include my mother and I know that losing a child is the most devastating death of all...our children aren't suppose to die before us.

My prayers go out to the entire family and the people Gerald touched in his short lifetime. May God comfort you in this difficult time.
