“ The corner outside the FedCenter Southwest Metro stop is gloomier without Leron. He always shared a smile and small pleasantries, regardless of whether I bought his flowers or not (I often did). May he rest in peace. - Carol Guensburg

“ I just learned today that the world lost this beautiful, kind soul whom I had grown to call my friend. I so looked forward to seeing him first thing in the morning in that corner seat at Starbucks, which I thought of as Ron's perfectly kept corner. He, with his belongings - his small bible, backpack, pen, and sometimes water or coffee - were always so welcoming. His kind eyes and smile were a genuine place of solace, decency and humanity in a city that sometimes offers so little of those. To me, he was that rare person who gave so much to so many, and yet neither asked for, nor expected anything in return. He was a remarkable person. I will miss him terribly, and be forever grateful for having known him.

“ I miss seeing Ron and talking to him. He would always ask how I am doing and asked about my family. I miss him wishing me safe travels to and from work. May his soul rest in perfect peace. Amen.

“ What a beautiful soul - taken too soon. Ron, you are missed, my friend! I know that God has welcomed you home now. I miss you, but cannot wait until we meet again! Your smile and friendly personality were such a blessing to all who met you. Farewell...

“ Ron was such a positive person. His Bible was always nearby. He blessed everyone who traveled down the escalator at Federal Center Southwest Metro. His presence there was a blessing to all who came and went in their busy lives. I am so sad to have to say good bye.

I will miss you so much its hard for me to fathom that I can't call you and see how you doing or just pop up at Starbucks and visit with you. Things won't be the same not having you over for the holidays and joking with each other. I have your phone and listen to your voice everyday but will stop because its so painful. I read the messages and kind words from all those who met you, it warm my heart knowing everything spoken about you is true. I'm so glad god chose you to be my big brother, I want you back but know god make no mistake you don't have to suffer through pain, deal with everyday life obstacle and most of all you have joined with mom and our brother Winkie again. I love you until we meet again

“Leron always had a quick smile and an upbeat comment, whenever I'd see him at the Federal Center SW metro or when he was reading his Bible at Starbucks. He always asked about my day and “my girls.” I will miss the joy he brought, rain or shine. Rest In Peace, my friend until we see each other again.

Just left attending Ron's visitation service. It's is clear and comforting to me that Ron is truly at peace. He was the mayor and angel of the Federal Center SW Metro Station area. I will indeed miss this beautiful man of valour who I considered to be not only my friend, but more importantly, my brother.

We all you Leron A. Kitt and you will never be forgotten because you touched so many lives. Victoria D.

Even months after Ron's passing, the corner of 3rd and D seems empty without his smile and kind word. Ron was a gentleman. Those of us lucky enough to befriend him--are there many of us--will always remember him fondly.
