“ Shawn,

Distance nor time could never separate our hearts or the love that we shared.. God knows we would argue like Rick James and Teena Marie but in the end it was all respect and love. We would hang out and dance the night away and I would say my feet hurt or I'm tired and you would reply Lil Shawn stop acting like a punk then we would burst into laughter. Although I couldn't stand you calling me Lil Shawn nor watching basketball all day nothing would make me happier then to hear your raspy voice calling me Lil Shawn or asking me to watch a basketball game. My heart is heavy and I've been fighting back the tears just writing this yet all I can hear you saying is you a punk let's play some one on one which brings a smile to my face.

You always looked so serious and mean yet you had a heart of gold and a impeccable free spirit and you lived by the phrase of no such thing as spending too much money on something you want. You loved music, basketball, dancing, and having a good time but, nothing was more important to you then family! It has been a privilege and honor to have called you my friend and to know that neither distance nor time could ever separate our hearts or the love that we shared. I love you and farewell my friend until we meet again.

Love Always,

Lil Shawn

It didn't matter how much time would pass, when we saw each other without words we would burst into laughter and that's how we started our conversation, what's up cuz. I remember the last time I saw u, I was walking down H st and u pulled over jumped out the car with those bow legs and we hugged and laugh like always b4 words were spoken, I told u how sharp u looked and u silly as always did a fashion show. Man Shawn I know I have to accept the reality and I know that where u r u r safe and happy. U r amongst some good ppl that we know longer have. I will always carry our fun times in my heart. Rest easy u crazy guy ❤️

Shawn,

Meeting you over 35 years ago through Buck, Leo and Boo was a blessing. We have had many laughs and few disagreements over those years which is a blessing in itself! I enjoyed you calling me "Lil Sis". The family cookouts will never be the same. Your Dancing, Singing, Playing Horseshoes and of course making jokes will always be remembered. The last time I saw you was when you were at the house helping Leo to install the bathroom vanity for Diamond and Destiny one week before you passed away. When I go in their bathroom, I see and think of the beautiful work you completed.

NOW your life is a beautiful work completed.

Love you much.

Lil Sister (Elizabeth) and nieces Kee-Kee, Diamond and Destiny!
